THE RAILROADS.

The Pittsburgh depot platform has been completed.

Some important changes in the management of the Wabash will take place shortly.

John Lillie, Jr., is erecting a new boiler and engine room for the Pittsburgh shops. The old engine will be replaced by a new 100 horse-power engine.

Indianapolis Sentinel: How the railroad competition of the past summer has diminished the net earnings is shown conspicuously by the last monthly return of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Although the gross earnings of the road for August were increased, by the increase of business consequent upon low rates, $10,117 over the receipts of August, 1878, its expenses were increased $239,771, so that there was a decrease of $229,654 in the net earnings. That is to say, the additional business gained by cutting rates cost $229,654 more than the additional pay received for doing it.

AMUSEMENTS.

FANNY DAVENPORT.

This gifted artist who is generally considered America's greatest actress, will make her first appearance in this city, next Monday night, at the Academy of Music, when will present a great double bill. The first piece will be the grand old English comedy of "London Assurance," Miss Davenport assuming the character of Lady Gager, in which she has no rival. The other play will be "Oliver Twist," Miss Davenport appearing in her wonderful impersonation of Nancy Sykes. The company is a large and carefully selected one, and if the Academy is not crowded next Monday night, there will be very little reason for our people to expect the management of the Academy to secure first class attractions in future. The sale of seats will begin at Geo. S. Fowler's Saturday morning.

In a highly sensational article in the News of last evening, it was intimated that the comparative elevations of the proposed site for reservoir grounds have been erroneously stated to the council and committee by me, for the purpose of prejudicing the sale of the Olds-Jones et al. land. I have never reported to the council anything about the matter. I have stated to the waterworks committee and trustees just what my field books show, and what I can fully substantiate; that the average difference in the elevation of the two pieces of ground, taken as a whole, is nearly four feet (and I never stated five). After the cross-sections were taken and plotted, and a diagram of the proposed reservoir laid out on the same, it became evident that the low ground on the Hamilton property could be avoided to such an extent as to increase our elevation about one foot, and Mr. Cook so stated to the council.

Mr. Brackenridge's Statement.

City Civil Engineer Brackenridge has the following communication in the Gazette this morning:

In a highly sensational article in the News of last evening, it was intimated that the comparative elevations of the proposed site for reservoir grounds have been erroneously stated to the council and committee by me, for the purpose of prejudicing the sale of the Olds-Jones et al. land. I have never reported to the council anything about the matter. I have stated to the waterworks committee and trustees just what my field books show, and what I can fully substantiate; that the average difference in the elevation of the two pieces of ground, taken as a whole, is nearly four feet (and I never stated five). After the cross-sections were taken and plotted, and a diagram of the proposed reservoir laid out on the same, it became evident that the low ground on the Hamilton property could be avoided to such an extent as to increase our elevation about one foot, and Mr. Cook so stated to the council.
